

Same saved primary arrays and original metrics; no optimization, no new success classification.